

Lorene Burkhart

Lorene Burkhart owns an Indianapolis company that produces books and products related to the owner's inspirational written words.

Burkhart founded the company to combine her passion for writing and philanthropy. A portion of profits from each book or product benefits a community non-profit or related cause.

Lorene's company combines her past business and personal life-lesson experiences into books and products that have a positive moral story or inspirational theme. Burkhart's business experience spans 40 years and includes product development, marketing, and public relations. During the 1990's, she was the chair and publisher of Metro Magazines and owner of The Register and IN Business. She developed a love for philanthropy as her career developed and progressed and found she no longer had to rely on each paycheck. In turn, she began giving back to organizations and causes in the Hoosier state, where she was born and raised on a southern Indiana farm.

Burkhart's philosophy is that everything in life has a positive moral story. She believes that the more you give, the more you get, and now applies her (seemingly) boundless energy and ever-creative mind toward developing new projects and products designed to inspire others as well to give back to the community she loves.

Don't miss the opportunity to have Lorene Burkhart share, motivate, and inspire your audience.
