

Jerry Mathers

“You know, working isn’t as much fun as I thought it would be.
I wonder why older people do it so much.”

- BEAVER CLEAVER_

Jerry “The Beaver” Mathers is an American Institution. His show business career began at the tender age of two when he did a Pet Condensed Milk commercial with Ed Wynn on the “Colgate Comedy Hour”. He worked on many of the early ‘50’s television shows and in 1954, he made his movie debut.

But, it was 1957 with the debut of the series Leave It To Beaver that Jerry entered the hearts and homes of America. An immediate success, the show gained national attention and ran for six seasons - a total of 234 episodes. When it celebrated its 50th anniversary in 2007, the show became the longest running scripted show in television history. Still shown on TV Land and in countries throughout the world, Leave It To Beaver has made Jerry an American icon.

Jerry is an FCC licensed broadcaster trained in both terrestrial and radio satellite broadcasting. And when his schedule permits, he guest hosts on radio programs from coast to coast.

In addition to acting, directing, commercial ad work, radio and personal appearances, Jerry is an often requested speaker at national conventions and trade shows. He speaks about the mythical Cleavers of the 1950’s, critiques the entertainment industry in general with an emphasis on early television and the impact of current media and popular culture on our society. Jerry usually concludes his presentations with Q & A. Jerry enjoys meeting people and photo ops and autographs can be added to his presentations.

Audiences of all ages enjoy hearing and meeting Jerry Mathers!
