

Stephanie McWilliams

Host of HGTV's Fun Shui

Stephanie McWilliams has been a feng shui consultant, graphic designer, illustrator and art director in New York City for over 15 years. She is the host of the popular television program Fun Shui aired weekly on HGTV.

Her love, passion and dedication to making a positive impact in people's lives has made her current feng shui practice the perfect marriage between design and healing. Her playful personality, sassy red hair and practical approach to the ancient art of feng shui makes for a fun-filled adventure as she teaches people how to change their lives by changing their space.

Stephanie is a dynamic, passionate, down-to-earth speaker, explaining Feng Shui in very practical, user-friendly (and often humorous) terms. Her unique approach to Feng Shui will help generate lasting benefits in the areas of health, wealth, and happiness.

Stephanie is a certified feng shui consultant and interior redesigner, as well as a member of the International and New York Feng Shui Guilds. She holds a degree in art direction from Pratt Art Institute in New York City. She is also a board-certified holistic health counselor with a certificate in integrative nutrition from Columbia and a member of the American Association of Drugless Practitioners.
